marriage, or adoption. The average household size is 2.31 and the average family size 2.82. Approximately, 41.4% of these families include related children under 18 years old, where 35.1% of these families include the parents own children. There are approximately 3,208 families with no husband/father figure present.

According to the Virginia Child Protective Source in the fiscal year of 2014-2015, there were 723 cases of child abuse or neglect reported. These reports were most commonly reported by a relative, school staff member, or an unknown source. There were 1,074 cases referred. Approximately, 403 of the cases were accepted, 232 cases resulted in a family assessment, and 171 cases were investigated. Of those, 85 cases were founded and 83 cases were unfounded. The three most common types of reported abuse or neglect were invalid, physical neglect, and physical abuse. On the FACT site, there is an indicator that reflects the number of founded investigations for children in which physical abuse, physical neglect, sexual abuse, mental abuse/neglect, or medical neglect by family members was confirmed. CPS investigations are conducted when there are immediate concerns about child safety, a prior history of child abuse and/or when the reported allegation is severe. The County has rate of 3.62 per 1,000 persons under the age of 18. This is above the state rate which is 2.04 per 1,000 persons under the age of 18.

Below is a table that illustrates the crime rates in Henry County as compared to both the state and national average:

Five Important Steps to Prevent Child Abuse

CARE FOR YOURSELF
When problems of everyday life pile up and you feel overwhelmed—take time out so that you don’t take it out on children. Learn the facts about child abuse and pay attention to the children in your life.

CARE FOR CHILDREN
Spend time listening to a child, reading to a child or playing a computer game with a child. Children need to know that they are appreciated, loved and capable of following their dreams.

CARE FOR OTHERS
Support others with children in their lives. Child abuse and neglect is a community issue. We can create an environment where our homes, schools and communities are places where children are treated with respect.

GET INVOLVED
Ask your community leaders, groups and institutions to develop services to meet the needs of children and families. Volunteer your time. Stay informed about local, state and national policies that impact children.
